Bey der Aufmerksamkeit, die man in Deutschland auf alle Gattungen von ausländischer Litteratur zu richten gewohnt ist, scheint es ein wahres Bedürfnis zu seyn, ein Handbuch von den jeztlebenden Schriftstellern jeder Nation zu besitzen, worin die Schriften derselben so zusammengestellt wären, daß man mit einem Blick übersehen kann, was der Fleis eines Mannes geleistet, welche Geistes-Werke er geliefert, wie viel er zur Aufklärung seines Zeitalters beygetragen habe, und wie groß oder gering die litterarische Industrie einer Nation in einem gewissen Zeitraum gewesen sey. Der wissenschaftliche Gelehrte würde daraus sehen, welche Wissenschaften oder welche Theile derselben bey jeder Nation vorzüglich bearbeitet worden und welche Bücher in diesem oder jenem Fach gegenwärtig bey ihr vorzüglich im Umlauf sind; dem Litterator, der die Schriftsteller aller Nationen und ihre Schriften in seine Ver-zeichnisse einträgt, würde durch solche einzelne Sammlungen seine Arbeit sehr erleichtert, und selbst die Verbreitung und gegenseitige Mittheilung der litterarischen Produkte jeder Nation würde dadurch nicht wenig befördert werden.

Noch haben wir von keiner Nation ein solches nützliches aber auch mühsames Werk, als von der deutschen. Für diese hat der unermüdete Fleiß Hamburger's und seines Nachfolgers Meusel's so vortreflich gesorgt, daß wir es diesen allein zu danken haben, daß mehrere Gelehrte die Schriftsteller einzelner Provinzen Deutschland's herausstellten und auf diese Art ein großes Hülfsmittel zur Bearbeitung der Gelehrten-Geschichte einzelner deutscher Provinzen darreichten. Zu der France litteraire ist seit 1784 keine Fortsetzung erschienen; und wie unvollkommen sind diese fünf Bände? Von Spanien hat uns Juan Sempere y Guarinos ein schätzbares Verzeichniss von Schriftstellern, welche unter Carl 3. lebten, gegeben, aber dieses enthält nach seinem Plan nur die vorzüglichsten. Von Italien haben wir noch keines und eben so wenig von den Nordischen Reichen. Auch die Engländer besitzen von ihrer neuesten Litteratur keine ordentlichen und vollständigen Jahrbücher.

Das Verzeichniss von fünfhundert Schriftstellern, welches vor einigen Jahren in London *) herauskam, ist ist einem Kirchen- und Kezer-Almanach ähnlicher, als daß es einen Litterator nur einigermaßen in seinen Untersuchungen befriedigen könnte. Es scheint, der Verfasser oder die Verfasser dieses Buchs stellten aus der ganzen Masse von Groß-Britannischen Schriftstellern bloß diejenigen heraus, über welche sie ein richterliches Lob oder Tadel aussprechen wollten. — Ayscough hat sich zwar durch sein Register über 70 Bände der Monthly Review große Verdienste in diesem Theil der Engländischen Litteratur erworben, aber es enthält nach seiner Absicht nur diejenigen Schriften, welche in diesem Journal recensirt worden sind. Gleichwohl dürfte von keiner andern Nation ein Handbuch ihrer Neuesten Litteratur so sehr unter uns gewünscht werden als von der Engländischen, da ihre Schriften in Deutschland so begierig aufgenommen, übersetzt und gelesen werden.

Ich habe es daher versucht hier ein solches Handbuch, das die Litteratur der Britten von den zwey letzten Jahrzehenden enthält, zu liefern. Die Unternehmung scheint für einen Ausländer kühn zu seyn; allein, wenn dieser im Besiz der meisten litterarischen Hülfsmittel ist, aus welchen der Britte selbst schöpfen könnte, und wenn er diese mit Fleiß und Sorgfalt gebraucht; so wird es nicht zu viel gewagt seyn, wenn er wenigstens einen Versuch macht, das zu ersetzen, was die Britten selbst bis jetzt nicht geleistet haben.

Der Plan dieses Handbuchs ist dieser. Nur die Schriften der Verfasser, die in dem Zeitraum von 1770 – 1790 geschrieben haben und noch am Leben sind, sind hier aufgenommen und unter dem Namen ihrer Verfasser zusammengeordnet. Die Schriftsteller, die in diesem Zeitraum gestorben sind, werden nur kurz angeführt, mit Bemerkung des Jahres ihrer Geburt, ihres Todes, wenn sie mir bekannt waren, und des Amts, welches sie bekleideten. Bey manchen wird freilich der Wunsch entstehen, daß auch die Schriften, der in diesem Zeitraum gestorbenen Gelehrten hätten angeführt werden sollen, allein diese gehören, so wie die Lebensbeschreibungen für das Jocher-Adelungische Gelehrten-Lexicon, und auch diese aufzunehmen würde der Kürze, die ich mir vorsezen mußte, nicht entsprechen.

Schriftsteller, welche blos ein Specimen inaugurale vor ihrem Abgang von der Universität, oder Prediger, welche nur einzelne Predigten in Druck gegeben haben, habe ich eben so wenig hier aufgenommen, als diejenigen, welche in diesem Zeitraum ihre litterarische Existenz nicht durch eine Abhandlung erwiesen haben. Teutsche Uebersetzungen habe ich sorgfältig angemerkt, aber keine aufgenommen, welche in ausländischen Sprachen gemacht worden sind.

Gelehrte von andern Nationen, unerachtet sie in Engländischer Sprache Abhandlungen geschrieben haben, ben, sind hier, wenn es mir bekannt war, nicht aufgenommen, sondern zu den Schriftstellern ihrer Nation gerechnet worden.

Die Preise der Bücher beyzufügen, schien mir in gedoppelter Hinsicht nützlich, einmal, um Liebhabern der Engländischen Litteratur, welche sich darinn Bücher anschaffen wollen, den Weg dazu zu erleichtern, zweytens, um unsere teutschen Buchhändler mehr aufzumuntern, Engländische Bücher in ihre Buchladen aufzunehmen und dadurch die Lectüre derselben bey uns mehr auszubreiten.

Den Vorwurf der Unvollständigkeit fürchte ich um so weniger, da Vollständigkeit bey einem Versuch dieser Art beinahe unmöglich ist. Ich bin es auch selbst überzeugt, daß aller angewandten Aufmerksamkeit und Sorgfalt unerachtet, mir manche Abhandlung entgangen seyn, mancher Irrthum sich eingeschlichen haben mag, welcher nur durch oftmals wiederholte Durchsicht und durch anhaltenden, Jahre lang fortdauernden, Fleiß verbessert werden, und einen höhern Grad der Vollkommenheit erreichen kann. Daß ich alles genutzt, was ich vor mir hatte, die Kritiken der Bücher selbst gelesen und die in Gesellschafts-Schriften zerstreueten Abhandlungen mühsam aufgesucht und zu ihren Verfassern gestellt habe, wird man beinahe auf jeder Seite sehen. Anonymische Schriften sind, wenn sie mir bekannt wurden, zu ihrem Verfasser gesetzt und zum Unterschied mit einem einem Sternchen bezeichnet. Am mühsamsten war mir, gewiss zu erfahren, ob ein Schriftsteller noch lebt und aufzufinden, in welchem Jahr er gestorben ist, denn die Britten sind in diesem Theil der Litterargeschichte sehr forglos. Daher kann auch öfters der Fall eintreten, daß ich hier einen Schriftsteller noch unter den lebenden aufzähle, welcher schon längst in eine andere Welt übergegangen ist. Ich wage daher an alle, welche Engländische Litteratur lieben, die Bitte, mich mit Beyträgen und Berichtigungen zu unterstützen, um in Supplement-Bänden nicht allein die neueste Litteratur fortzusetzen, sondern auch die Fehler, welche sich hier eingeschlichen haben möchten, zu verbessern. Mit dem innigstem Dank werde ich jedes, was zur Verbesserung dieses Versuchs der Engländischen Gelehrten-Geschichte in diesem Zeitraum dienen kann, aufnehmen, so wie ich die thätige Unterstützung drey, mir sehr verehrungswürdigen, Freunde, des H. D. Girtanner, in Göttingen, H. Hof-Med. D. Hufeland in Weimar und H. D. Kapp in Leipzig lebhaft und dankbarlichst erkenne.
